land for construction of court buildings and also due to non-availability of required manpower to man these FTCs. The Central Government have advised such State Governments to take available buildings on rent and recruit qualified and eligible persons from the Bar for appointment as Judges so that all the FTCs could be established and made functional as per the target fixed.

Delimitation of Parliamentary and Assembly Constituencies

2812. SHRI V.V RAGHAVAN: Will the Minister of LAW AND JUSTICE be pleased to state :

(a) whether the delimitation of the Parliamentary and Assembly constituencies is expected to be completed before the next General election; and

(b) if so, the progress made so far in the delimitation process, State-wise?

THE MINISTER OF LAW AND JUSTICE (SHRI ARUN JAITLEY): (a) The section 10(6) of the Delimitation Act, 2002 provides that the Delimitation Commission shall endeavour to complete its exercise within two years of its constitution. The Delimitation Commission has stated that consequent to enactment of the Constitution (Eighty-seventh Amendment) Act, 2003, providing for delimitation on the basis of 2001 census, the earlier delimitation exercise, which was being done on the basis of 1991 census, has since been discontinued. The delimitation work is now to be carried out on the basis of 2001 final census figures which are yet to be supplied by the Registrar General.The Delimitation Commission has informed that the final census data of 2001 Census is expected to be published only in October, 2003. As per present indications, it may not be possible to complete the exercise for all states in time for the next Lok Sabha election normally due in October, 2004. In this context, it has also infomed that the Election Commission would also take about 4 to 6 months for collation of electoral rolls in terms of newly delimited constituencies, revision of lists of polling stations, appointment of electoral registration officers, returning officers and so on. However, the Delimitation Commission has stated that it would endeavour to complete the work as expeditiously as possible.

(b) The Delimitation Commission has informed that it has prepared Paper-I in respect of all States showing the distribution of the Assembly Constituencies to various districts in the States on the basis of provisional data of 2001 Census, published by the Registrar General. This paper hs been sent to the Associate Members of the States/Union terrtories concerned and meetings to discuss the relevant issues have been held in various States and also in New Delhi. A Statement showing the meetings held by the Delimitation Commission is laid on the Table of the House.
